INTER-CULTURAL COMMUNICATION SERIES: SEMINAR III

Tuesday / 29th April 2014 / 10.30 a.m. – 12.30 p.m. / Prof. Madga Dr. Khalilah
Fadzilah Amin / Main Lecture Hall, Faculty of Biotechnology 1

A workplace environment, academic or otherwise, can quickly turn antagonistic due to misconstrued sociolinguistic cues—and when the people in that workplace practice different sociolinguistic cues, the antagonism can be further exacerbated, and careers can potentially be destroyed. In the third seminar of the Intercultural Communication series, students will be taught to recognise these cues to ensure that they can communicate effectively with future colleagues from different cultural backgrounds.

All fees must be fully paid before commencement of the course. Otherwise, participants will not be allowed to enter the lecture hall. Students can register for the courses by email: putrasarjana2014@gmail.com or at Putra Sarjana Office, SGS 2, UPM or contact Mr. Mohd Fariq Ismail.

ABOUT THE FACILITATOR

Fadzilah Amin taught English Literature at the University of Malaya for 26 years and retired as Associate Professor and Head of Department in 1993. From 1996, she taught English language at UiTM for 6 ½ years, following which she taught English language part-time at the UIA-JAKIM Tahfiz programme in Kuala Kubu Baru, Selangor, until the end of 2009.

During her years at the University of Malaya, she supervised MA students, wrote academic articles and attended conferences and seminars both locally and abroad. She also wrote book reviews and literary articles for the New Straits Times, and in 2001 was appointed English language consultant for The Star's Mind Our English page, answering readers' questions on English grammar and usage (June 2001 – Feb 2012) and now writing weekly articles on the English language.

She believes strongly that there should be no age limit to productive work, as long as we are able and willing to do it, whether we have officially retired or not.
