

INTENSIVE ENGLISH PROGRAMME (IEP) FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

PROGRAMME SYNOPSIS

The IEP is specially designed for students (with a TOEFL score of 450 - 499 or IELTS Band 4.0 - 4.5) who are given a conditional offer for undergraduate or postgraduate studies at Universiti Putra Malaysia (UPM). The 360-hour intensive English programme aims to help students attain the necessary level of English proficiency in order to continue their studies at the undergraduate or postgraduate level at UPM.

IEP consists of the following components:

- Listening and Speaking (120 hours) guides students to develop effective academic listening skills, to respond appropriately to academic listening texts, and to discuss ideas meaningfully with their fellow students. Students will also be provided with opportunities to prepare and deliver short academic presentations, and to make appropriate responses to ideas presented by their peers. Pronunciation training is also incorporated into the component to train students to speak clearly and accurately.
- Reading (80 hours) provides students with high-interest readings on academic subjects and training in developing skills and strategies for effective reading, vocabulary building, note-taking and critical thinking. Students are also given opportunities to connect reading to speaking and writing by discussing and writing about the ideas they discovered in their readings.
- Writing (160 hours) covers various writing topics to help students to master academic writing skills. Students will be taken on a systematic writing process of organising, drafting and revising their written work on varied academic paragraphs, essays and research papers. Training in grammar, mechanics, vocabulary and sentence construction are integrated into the writing process.
